HOW COMPANIES OFFER TO THEIR TEAMS

Customer Facing Groups

In some cases companies prefer to have their customer facing employees go through Fast Future Fundamentals as it significantly improves customer interactions and directly reflects on customer facing talent experiences

Mix-n-Match

These companies that take a combination of the previous three approaches based on size of the employee groups, business need etc.

Add-On To Existing Development Programs

Companies 'bolt-on' Fast Future Fundamentals on to their in progress, existing or planned leadership development or technical development programs or cohorts

First Come First Serve

Companies reserve a certain number of learner spots from us and offer it to their employees on a first come first serve basis. This helps them offer to employees who are interested and therefore invest in building their future knowledge or skills
